The Public Kitchen & Bar / Bars, Burgers, Sandwiches / 4.3 stars / $$

The Public Kitchen & Bar was created to elevate the casual dining experience while keeping a 'public' sensibility. This means sourcing the very best ingredients available and serving them in a stylish, casual environment. In keeping with our farm-to-table mission our burgers are sourced from our Managing Partner's family farm right here in Georgia. They are all-natural, 100% grass-fed beef. The Public Kitchen & Bar maximizes style inspired by iconic, classic mid-century modern design bringing vibrancy to its iconic, landmark locations. We believe quality food and service in beautiful restaurants shouldn't just be reserved for "fine dining."

Sunday Sunday / Breakfast & Brunch, Vietnamese / 4.5 stars / $$$

Sunday Sunday is more than a restaurant, it's a celebration of heritage, community, and the joy of coming together around the table. Vietnamese classics with thoughtful American and French influences—highlighting fresh herbs, rich flavors, and seasonal ingredients. Rooted in the comforting rituals of Sunday meals, the concept pays homage to multigenerational cooking, where recipes are passed down, shared, and reimaged. With a welcoming atmosphere that feels both nostalgic and elevated, Sunday Sunday is more than a restaurant.

Crystal Beer Parlor / Southern, American / 4.4 stars / $$

In the early 1900s, what was to become the CRYSTAL BEER PARLOR opened as the "Gerken Family Grocery Store." It was operated by a young Julius Weitz with his parents and siblings. They all lived upstairs over the store. Sold in the early Thirties to William "Blocko" and Connie Manning, The Crystal was one of the first American eating establishments to serve alcohol after the repeal of Prohibition. (Probably because the booze was already on the premises!) It's rumored that Blocko ran illegal hooch and operated a speakeasy during Prohibition.

Native Savannahians still talk about The Crystal. Some got engaged here, had their first date or beer here, or came with their family for a juicy burger, homemade fries, and creamy crab stew. Many of the pictures on the walls depict scenes from Savannah's past and some of her more famous and infamous citizens! Pictures from our family album are proudly displayed in the Monroe Room, lovingly named after Monroe Whitlock, who, along with A.G.

"Smitty" Smith, were servers here for almost 45 years.

The building and the interior are much as they were back when Blocko and Connie grilled burgers and poured draft beer here. Burgers were 30 cents, and draft beer was 10 cents a glass! Times sure have changed, but our commitment to good, quality food at a fair price and efficient, friendly service are right in keeping with The Crystal's long-standing tradition of excellence! We are proud to be a part of such a rich and colorful piece of Savannah's past.

We are at your service!
